Dear Friends

Over the last couple of months, I've tried to answer the question I'm often asked, 'What is a Christian?' I want to remove the confusion many feel. The statement 'Jesus Christ is Lord', which is the earliest Christian creed recorded, is at the heart of the Christian faith. It is believing this and acting on it which makes a person into a Christian.

I ended last time by pointing out that although our in-built self-centredness is destructive to our relationships with each other, the worst feature of it is that it is rebellion against Jesus Christ's right to control our lives. And since Jesus is Master, then sin has consequences of eternal magnitude

But God in his love and mercy does the only thing that we would expect him to do. He urges people everywhere to stop rebelling against him and turn back and obey him. This is what the Bible means by the term 'repentance'. St Paul tells us that God commands all people everywhere to repent because he has fixed a day when he will judge the world.

Because of our sin, we do not have the ability to repent unless God gives us this ability as a gift and we should therefore beg God to have mercy upon us and give us this gift so that we can stop rebelling and submit to Jesus Christ as Lord.

When anyone turns from their rebellion they are granted an amnesty by God. We are not punished for our acts of rebellion as we ought to be. Indeed, we are treated as if we had never been rebels at all! We don't deserve this treatment and it could never have been ours except for the death of Jesus Christ on our behalf. When Jesus died, he took the punishment which we deserve because of our sin. He was punished for sinful people so we could be set free from the punishment which we had coming to us. This is the measure of the love of Jesus Christ for us: he loved us and gave his life for us.

When you stop rebelling and allow Jesus to control your life, this is a clear indication that God has started to work in you and made you into a new person. You may feel the same and look the same, but you start to act differently. And you act differently because you are different. People who have become Christians start to want to please Jesus – before, they ignored and disobeyed him. This changed behaviour stems from a changed attitude to Christ and this changed attitude is that the Bible calls being born again. This change is something which God does and is sometimes referred to as having Christ living in us and sometimes as having the Holy Spirit living within us. It is, of course, important to realise that in submitting to Jesus' control you will not lose your identity. Rather, you become more complete as a human being. Becoming a Christian is like stepping out from darkness into light. The Bible compares it to being set free from bondage: 'Once you were slaves to sin, now you are servants of the living God.' And it is in Jesus' service that 'perfect freedom' is found.

With all good wishes
Phil Parker

63 Bus update

I am pleased to report that the new 63 Bus service to Oxford is now up and running, operated by Thames Travel. Timetables are on display in the Village Shop, Appleton, and on the large notice board outside the shop, as well as at some bus stops - such as by the War Memorial.

Please note the new times and be aware that the route now includes a short detour to Dean Court both travelling into and out of Oxford. However the 11.57 am and 13.57pm buses leaving Oxford travel ONLY to DEAN COURT. Gardening Club

We held our AGM in May followed by a talk given by David Jones on Earthworms. David is an earthworm specialist at the Natural History Museum and is regarded as a national expert in this field. He is one of the creators of the Soil and Earthworm Survey.

Did you know there are 27 native species of earthworms, and that a healthy earthworm population can boost crop yields by as much as 25%? And that earthworms and termites (and maybe small children!) are the only creatures on Earth that deliberately eat soil? These were a few of the things we learnt from David Jones, an entomologist and soil scientist at the Natural History Museum, in a thoroughly entertaining and informative talk. It became clear how important it is to nurture earthworms in gardens and farms. They improve soil structures, enrich soil biomasses and are themselves food for moles, badgers, birds and more. How a mole prepares an earthworm for dinner was a tale in itself!

We are organising two garden visits over the summer – firstly to Mill Barn and The Manor in Chadlington on 30th June and secondly to Chivel Farm, Heythrop on 31st August. If you are interested in joining us do get in touch at aegardeningclub@gmail.com

We are always looking for people to help run the club so if you would like to continue to see a thriving gardening club in the village, please get in touch at aegardeningclub@gmail.com

News from the Appleton with Eaton Parish Council

Support for Ukraine

Weekly coffee mornings have begun for Ukrainian residents and their hosts. The first one was held on Thursday, 19th May. We had a very large turnout of at least 30 people with several Ukrainian families. It was very well received with hosts eager for it to continue. We initially look to hold these in Appleton Village Hall. However, these mornings may eventually be "rolling" coffee mornings hosted in various parishes for more accessibility. We will see how it develops. There is currently one family living in the parish and more are due to arrive in the near future and there are several in the near surrounding areas.

If you can help, please contact the clerk either at parishclerk.appletonwitheaton@gmail.com or 01865 865 876.

Jubilee!

Thinking of going away for the Jubilee Bank Holiday weekend?

THINK AGAIN!

Why sit in endless traffic jams when you can stay right here and enjoy Appleton, Eaton and Besselsleigh at their best.

Have a look at the Jubilee Weekend Programme that came through your door.

Entertainment for all over all four days, culminating in the Big Jubilee Picnic on Sunday 5 June, with fairground rides, Sharky and George, live jazz.

Get your tickets early – don't miss out!

Thank you to the Griffiths and Knight families

On behalf of the Parish Council, the Leisure and Recreation Committee, Appleton with Eaton Cricket Club and all who use our lovely Sportsfield, we wanted to thank the Griffiths and Knight families for their kind donation of a bench in memory of husband and father Jim Griffiths.

Having asked a number of people who knew Jim I was struck by the enormous affection and admiration for him. Jim was a former captain of Appleton with Eaton Cricket Club who was by all accounts a larger than life figure. Jim died in 1986 and is buried in Appleton churchyard where his epitaph reads, "He was the best because he knew he wasn't"; food for thought for us all.

The Griffiths and Knight families, and no doubt Jim, would like nothing better than for you to make use of the bench dedicated to his memory and to enjoy watching the cricket...or just the world going by.

Hornbeam Tree

The Council has received the gift of a hornbeam tree from Frosts Garden Centre and is looking for a piece of common land on which to plant it. The council would welcome any ideas.

Appleton History

– a Penguin

Basil Blackwell was a very successful bookseller living - in 1928 - in north Oxford. He had a want to move to the countryside and bought a field on the edge of Appleton – about 7 acres - between Netherton Road and the Osse Brook; a hundred years earlier it had been two plots of land held by Mary Barrett and Ewin Sellwood. Here he built a fine home – Osse Field - and gardens for his family – including an infant Julian Blackwell.

Basil was innovative and decided to hold the annual meeting of the Association of Booksellers in Oxford in September 1934; the innovation was that he asked the Publishers Association to join them. Basil's wife – Marion – invited the gathering to Osse Field for an afternoon tea and to continue the meeting there. It was a fine day and the meeting - of a little over 30 settled down around an apple tree; my recent photo shows Julian Blackwell next to the apple tree.

Allen Lane was one of the publishers and he was doing his best to reduce the cost of books. He decided that getting rid of the hard covers might solve the problem - he had planned the paperback book – beneath the Blackwell's apple tree. Ten months later the first Penguin book was published. Most book people thought he was crazy and Allen Lane got many publishing rights at knockdown prices. BUT – another ten months later he had printed a MILLION books. The book world was changed forever.

In WW2 Penguin books were printed in vast numbers - giving advice and instructions on all sorts of wartime issues. Unlike hardback books the Penguin was often passed on from friend to friend and so on.

Note 1 – the above account is at variance with other published accounts. Julian Blackwell has shown me the records of the meeting and notes of Allen Lane. I have no doubts of the authenticity of this account.

Note 2 – the Oxford house that the Blackwell's left was 22 Northmoor Road. Their neighbours – in number 20 – admired this house and promptly bought and moved into it. Basil Blackwell had left behind an excellent study – which much suited the new occupant. It is quite possible that the line – "In a hole in the ground there lived a hobbit" - was written in that study – by J R R Tolkien – the new owner of the Blackwell's Oxford home.
